TURKEY TO PROMOTE ECONOMIC TIE WITH S. SUDAN

By Oyet Alfonso

Turkey is desirous of promotion of bilateral cooperation with the friendly South Sudan particularly in economic and commercial areas; the Turkish Ambassador to Juba Mr. Haluk AGCA said.

Ambassador AGCA told Juba Monitor that Turkey is ready to share its experiences, knowledge, and know-how with the friendly South Sudan in the process of economic development.

"Turkey may start bilateral cooperation in the fields of agriculture, food industry, tourism and construction," he said.

He said that as for the history of Turkish industrialization or, to put it bluntly economic development, after the proclamation of the Turkish Republic in 1923 by Atatürk, a process of industrialization came into being mainly in order to create substitutes for imported products from industrialized countries.

Ambassador further stated that during this planned process various industries were established, and as a result, from the 1950s onwards, industrial design activities began to emerge.

He said these industrial design activities, which initially began as product modifications for the imported products according to the local market's needs, have evolved into new product development efforts in sectors such as sanitary ware, textiles, glass ware, furniture, electronics, construction materials, transportation vehicles, defense industry and white goods.

Mr. AGCA continued that during the period of planned industrialization especially the large companies in the aforementioned sectors set up in-company design teams/departments. "The period of industrialization, in which an industrial production capacity was built through measures such as a protected domestic market and financial incentives of the State, was interrupted by a Military Coup in 1980 and a new political and trade regime followed it. The national market was almost entirely opened up for foreign competition," he said.

Turkey has just overcome attempt foiled coup just because the Turkish Government had the wide public support including all sections and colors of the Turkish politics as well as the public.

But the Ambassador said that Turkish and South Sudanese officials and experts may get together to exchange views and experiences on all these matters.

The fact that turkey has experience coup attempt, Ambassador AGCA said South Sudan's internal and external issues can be best solved by the South Sudanese, themselves.

"First of all, South Sudanese people should find a way out to reconcile their differences sooner than later. Turkey, as a friend of the Republic of South Sudan, is ready to develop her relations with Juba in various fields," he stressed.

"As a result, we would like to see that all the drafts of agreements concerning bilateral cooperation between Turkey and South Sudan should be finalized to give an impetus to the friendly relations existing between our two nations," he added.

To: HE Gen. Salva Kiir Mayardit,
President of the Republic of South Sudan

From: The SPLM Collo Caucus in Juba

The Message

1. We the SPLM Collo Caucus in Juba Congratulate HE Gen. Salva Kiir Mayardit, Chairman of the SPLM and President of the Transitional Government of National Unity (TGoNU) for his wisdom and prompt action of containing the fighting that erupted in Juba during the recent J1 incident and for the immediate declaration of ceasefire in the country.
2. We also congratulate HE the President for the appointment of Gen. Taban Deng Gai as the First Vice President upon his nomination by the top leadership of the SPLM/A-IO in line with the provision of the Agreement of Resolution of Conflict in South Sudan (ARCSS).
3. We strongly support the decision of HE the President to pursue full implementation of the Agreement of Resolution of Conflict in South Sudan (ARCSS) to restore peace and development to our people.
4. However, the SPLM Collo Caucus in Juba rejects the following:
 - a) Intervention of any foreign led-forces in South Sudan
 - b) Imposition of arms embargo on South Sudan
5. We therefore, appeal for unity among our peoples and urge our President to continue working for peace and reconciliation in the country.

Long live the Republic of South Sudan
Long live the SPLM
Long Live Salva Kiir Mayardit

Hon. Lino Makana assumes a prophetic position

By Yuhu Annet

Finally, the prophetic message given about Hon. Lino Anthony Makana's new position as the Speaker of the Transitional National Legislative Assembly has come to pass.

Early this year, Apostle Dr. Sabino Daniel, the founder of the House of God for all Nations, both in Sudan and South Sudan, gave a prophetic message that Hon. Makana was going to be selected as the parliamentary speaker for the national assembly. Thank God that the message has come to a fulfillment.

In July last year, Apostle Sabino gave a similar message about the appointment of the Governor of the then Central Equatorial State, Hon. Juma Ali Malou, and the message came to pass in August. Hon. Malou was maintained as the governor of the newly created Terekeka State that emerged out of the former Central Equatoria State.

Apostle Dr. Sabino Daniel has been elevated after the desire of God's heart as a vessel to speak to many nations of which South Sudan is supposed to benefit greatly if the people respond to the voice of God. Whenever Apostle Sabino brings a word of God to the nation, he stresses that God's intention is for all mankind to listen to the word, accept to change and turn unto Him for solutions. He says when the word of God comes, it comes in such a way that He wants to put people right.
